American Music Therapy Association (AMTA) Organizational Chart

All AMTA Governance groups work collectively to fulfill the mission and implement the work of the Association

AMTA Board of Directors
The AMTA Board is the governing body of the association elected to represent the membership and support the execution of management policies. The Board is tasked with ensuring the strategic direction and fiscal health as it aligns to the Association’s mission. The President of the Board works closely with the CEO to coordinate efforts of the Board.

Assembly of Delegates
The Assembly is comprised of members who are elected to the Assembly to represent the regions. The Assembly acts as the policy making body and is responsible for overseeing the standards and key documents that govern the profession.

Regions
Each AMTA member belongs to a specific region based on their geographical location. Each region has its own governing body to manage day to day interactions with its regional members and regional conferences.

AMTAS
AMTAS is the official student organization of AMTA comprised of students and graduate student members who are enrolled in AMTA-approved schools, pursuing a graduate degree in related fields of study, or other interested students. AMTAS serves to inform, connect, and support Student members. AMTAS serves to inform, connect and support music therapy students.

Councils
AMTA committees fall under three councils who implement work of the association related to their charge. Each Council reports to the Board of Directors and keeps the Board informed on all committee efforts. Committees are comprised of members from each of the seven association regions.
